

Abstract

Certain piperazine substituted compounds are described which are useful in altering calcium channel activity.